

A Spanish teacher for much of my career, first in Ohio and later at Hammond School in Columbia and Ridge View High School in Blythewood, I joined Lexington One in 2000 to teach Spanish at White Knoll Middle School. In 2004, I was promoted to the district office as a technology integration specialist, to assistant administrator at Lexington Middle in 2012 and to assistant principal in 2014.

I earned a Bachelor of Arts in Spanish and English from Kent State University and a Master of Education in educational administration from Ashland University. I am a member of South Carolina Association of School Administrators and the Association for Supervision and Curriculum Development.

I love being principal of LMS and working with our Wildcat students, parents, teachers and community! In my free time I enjoy reading, traveling, camping and spending quality time with my family and pets.
